RLC ANNOUNCES RETIREMENT OF PRESIDENT, RODGER BAGWELL

Broussard, LA — February 24, 2012 — RLC, the largest privately-held helicopter operator in the Gulf of Mexico, today announced the retirement of President, Rodger Bagwell. Dru Milke, who joined the company in September 2011 as CEO, will assume the role of President and CEO.

During Bagwell's tenure, RLC grew from a small Part 135 operator focused primarily on the refurbishment and maintenance of aircraft to the Gulf of Mexico's largest independent helicopter services operator with a fleet of 75 aircraft serving the region's leading energy services providers and oil and gas producers.

"On behalf of the entire Company, we want to thank Rodger for his years of leadership and dedicated service. We all wish him the very best in his retirement," said CEO Dru Milke. "With the strong foundation Rodger helped establish, RLC is poised to continue to raise the bar for our performance against the highest safety, operational and service standards."

Bagwell, who has been with the organization for ten years, will continue to champion the customer focus for which RLC has become known among its oil and gas industry clientele as an advisor to the Company.

RLC's market momentum has accelerated over the past few months as the Company has secured a significant financial investment, unveiled a new corporate identity, won two major safety awards, added a number of seasoned executive managers to its team and inked a four-year agreement with FlightSafety International, the world's leading aviation training company.
